About the Workshop

The One-Week National Workshop on Writing & Publishing Bibliometric & Systematic Review Papers addresses a critical need in today's competitive academic environment. As research outputs increase exponentially, the ability to synthesize existing knowledge through systematic reviews and bibliometric analyses has become essential for scholars. These methods enable researchers to identify trends, gaps, and impactful studies within their fields, enhancing the quality and relevance of their work. The workshop equips participants with the necessary skills to produce high-impact articles, boosting their academic visibility and contribution to evidence-based knowledge, which is increasingly demanded by top-tier journals and funding bodies. This is second workshop in the series. The first successful workshop was organised by Thapar Institute of Engineering and Technology, Patiala.
